

Kingdom Come

Sadistik & Kristoff Krane

Kristoff Krane (Sadistik)

It's one It's one It's one It's one It's one It's one It's one It's one It's one

Big misunderstanding love the lamb and the lions will fall

(in love with my when they draw the line I have been trying to call)

No-one ever picks up they just kick us in our eyes and I crawl

(on my hands and knees I can't defeat this constant violent impulse)

That pushes me into each corner till the ceiling implodes

(my gun pull this trigger happy go lucky devil I know)

Nobody is clear enough to stop and smell the petals that grow

(Grow up to clock people walking with only metal footballs)

You're like a pet who gets away the day he's left in the cold

(Dogs never learn new tricks they sit and they just do what they're told)

Their tails they tuck between their legs and face the truth they were sold

Sadistik

I can feel my sanity, it's cracking at the seams

And if you listen close enough it feels like chattering of teeth

Kristoff Krane

And when I look into the family tree I see Adam and Eve

And how before she ate the apple of my eye we all were free

Sadistik

Walking off a cliff I hope I'm landing on my feet

So we can get nightmares while you're still laughing at my dreams ha ha ha

Kristoff Krane

And while you're getting lost I'm finding reasons to believe

In the decisions that I make when looking at what's best for me

Sadistik

No no no I am not a man I am a part of a machine

That has been trying all I can to hide the monster underneath

Kristoff Krane

There's no doubt that we are doing somersaults inside the ego

Where the Prince will cut himself to achieve and still believe, we know

Sadistik

People always try to get the damsel in distress

So they can clean the mess and try to get the damsel to de-stress

Kristoff Krane

But if I base all my success on someone else's sense of happiness

I'm bound to forget to smile and hit the ground as hard as them

Lyrics provided by <https://www.songarea.com/>

