

As You Sleep

Something Corporate

Close your eyes, and I will be swimming
Lullabies fill your room, and I will be singing Singing to only you
Don't forget I'll hold your hand
Watch the night sky fading red But as you sleep, and no one is listening
I will lift you off your feet, I'll keep you from sinking
Don't you wake up yet, cause soon I'll be leaving you
Soon I'll be leaving you, but you won't be leaving me
In the car, the radio leaves me searching for your star
A constellation of frustration driving hard Singing my thoughts back to me, and watching heartache on TV But as you sleep, and no one is listening
I will lift you off your feet, I'll keep you from sinking
Don't you wake up yet, cause soon I'll be leaving you Soon I'll be leaving you, but you won't be leaving me Don't forget I'll hold your hand, watch the night sky fading red
But as you sleep, and no one is listening
I will lift you off your feet, I'll keep you from sinking
Don't you wake up yet, cause soon I'll be leaving you
Soon I'll be leaving you, but you won't be leaving me
